The "Early English" pattern—a design that has stood the test of centuries.

We welcome comparison of our prices with those of goods of equal quality.

THROUGHOUT the ages sterling silver has been a symbol of possessions and influence.

Purchased originally by some far-seeing ancestor, silver of long ago is treasured today for its loveliness and revered for its traditions.

Birks silver is of that generously heavy weight so necessary to secure lasting beauty, yet in price it compares favourably with less meritorious products.

N'FLD. CLUB HAD SMOKER LAST NIGHT

Prof. Hatcher Referred to Newfoundland Education.

OFFICERS ELECTED.

Sir Arthur Currie Gave "Heart to Heart Chat" to Students.

Those who have continually argued that the sectional clubs are a detriment to the Unity of Undergraduate life, would have been easily silenced last night, if they attended the smoker of the Newfoundland Club, and heard the different addresses.

This was the first real social activity of the Club, this year, and it was indeed a success. The chief guests of the evening were the Principal, Sir Arthur Currie, G. C. M. G., and Professor W. H. Hatcher, Ph. D.

The affair started sharp at 8 o'clock, in the large room of the Union, and at the very beginning the new officers were elected as follows:

President—E. J. Jackman, Med. '23.
Vice-President—H. Wells, Arts '23.
Secretary—J. O. Frazer, Med. '24.
Treasurer—C. F. Harwood, Com. '23.
Reporter—M. Cashin, Med. '23.

The newly elected President has been a faithful worker of the Club from its very inception and was at all times a strong support to the ex-President C. F. Davis.

Sir Arthur Currie was then introduced to the Club and delivered an address which was in itself a "heart to heart chat". The Principal recalled his first real introduction to Newfoundlanders when in November 1914, the Canadian soldiers, bound to share the Empire's battles, were met off the coast of New. WESLEYAN UNDER NEW MANAGEMENT

Orchestra Obtained to Play at All Meals

Every year brings its changes in college life. One readily learns this while listening to the Graduates conversing with the Sophs and Freshies. It is a good thing we have changes. "Avoid Rests" should be on every sign-post along the pathway of college life.

It is with pleasure that we learn of the changes this year in the Wesleyan; they are evidences of progress. The management of the Dining Hall has long been a stumbling block at the Wesleyan, and many a weary hour has been spent by the Board of Governors and the Students' Executive in an endeavor to make it a success. The only change noted as a result of these expended efforts was that "Burnt Offerings" replaced "Bloody Sacrifices" upon the Bill-of-fare.

At last however a real change has been brought about; the Wesleyan has been placed under entirely new management. Mr. Price, the manager, has engaged an unusually large staff, who can, from present indications, handle the work efficiently. The Dining Hall has been thrown open to non-residents as well as residents and consequently has become somewhat of a social centre at meal times. The fact that upwards of four hundred meals are served daily speaks volumes for the popularity of the new arrangement.

An innovation will be introduced to-night when the newly-formed orchestra will render music at intervals during the meal hour.

It is urged that members of the Society be prompt, in order to have all business transacted before the address commences. Refreshments and music will also be a feature of the evening's entertainment.

E. T. SMOKER BIG SUCCESS LAST NIGHT

Sir Arthur Currie Addressed Club.

N'FLD. CLUB PRESENT.

Excellent Music Rendered by Mandolin Club.

The first smoker of the Eastern Townships Club was held in the Cafeteria of the Union last night, and was a great success, due to the prevailing spirit of good fellowship. The old members present made it their object to get acquainted with the new men, and to introduce them to others present. It was not very long before everybody was chatting and smoking. Clay pipes were in abundance, with plenty of "everybody's-favorite" tobacco, Old Chum, to break them in, and a good supply of cigarettes and cigars were on hand to add to the lustre of the evening.

The president, A. S. Johnson, announced that it was the purpose of the club to bring all the men together from the various parts of the Townships, and get them acquainted one with the other, and expected the men not to wait for any formal introduction, but just make themselves known. The men readily responded to this request, and during the intervals of the program moved around among the crowd.

The program was interesting and varied. The music rendered by the Mandolin Club being of first class order, was much appreciated by all present. Caron, of Commerce, succeeded in amusing the Club with his Habitant, Scotch and Irish stories. The boxing bout staged through the kindness of the Boxing Club, attracted the attention of the men from the first sound of the gong to the last. Boucher and Henderson, both of second year Medicine, did not spare themselves to make the bout a lively one. The blows came hard and fast, and though there was no knock-out, nor any final decision, the Club appreciated the efforts of both men.

The interest of the evening was increased when Sir Arthur Currie and the other members of the Newfoundland Club joined with the E. T. men to see Harold Lloyd's latest film "I Do," for which entertainment the club is indebted to Johnson, who supplied both the machine and film.

The president called upon the Principal to address the meeting. Sir Arthur entertained the men with some "honest and true" war stories, much to the appreciation of those present, and closed his remarks by expressing his good wishes for the future of the club.

It is needless to add that the film of Harold Lloyd's was much enjoyed. This is a regular feature of the annual smoker, and is expected by all the old members, who were in no way disappointed with last night's show.

Davies, of the Newfoundlanders, tendered the greeting of his club and hoped that plans for the future United Club Dance would soon be under way.

Quite a number of new members joined, and the club is proud to have on its roll the name of Sir Arthur Currie. All men who received invitations to the smoker are urged to become members, as a very interesting program for the winter has been arranged.

Excellent refreshments were served after which, Hail Alma Mater and God Save the King were sung, bringing the successful evening to a close with the McGill Yell, and cheers for the good music rendered by the Mandolin Club.

WATERMAN'S TRIP VERY ENJOYABLE

Students Deeply Interested in Methods.

FINE RECEPTION.

Two Hours Profitably Spent in Large St. Lambert Factory.

The trip yesterday afternoon to the factory in St. Lambert, of the L. E. Waterman Company, Limited, was greatly enjoyed by the twenty students in the party. The hour appointed for departure from the city—two o'clock—found the majority of the group safely on the car for the South Shore. About two minutes after the car had left, a second detachment materialised and inquired where the crowd was, and only with difficulty could be convinced that the "gang" had left on time. However, party number two decided to follow on the next car, and were enthusiastic when several R.V.C. students appeared, being correspondingly depressed when the latter decided not to go.

Upon arrival at the factory, the two groups joined and twenty strong, were shown throughout the building. The first process was the rough sizing of caps and barrels for the pens from the hard rubber, much resembling in appearance miniature shell forgings. These were turned on small lathes with the cutting chisels at a fixed distance from them, so that none could be cut undersize. The caps and barrels are then run through a finishing lathe where the operator smooths them to final size and cuts any taper necessary. They are then threaded, cleaned out, and buffed. HISTORIANS HEARD PAPER LAST NIGHT

Prof. Basil Williams at Historical Club.

PROGRAM ARRANGED

Many Papers to be Read by Students.

The opening meeting of the Historical Club was held last evening, in Strathcona Hall, when Prof. Basil Williams read a very instructive paper on history in general. Prof. C. E. Fryer, the honorary president of the club, was present, and contributed largely to the success of the occasion by his witty remarks.

Prof. Williams arrived from Oxford University very recently, where he is well known as an historian, and within the short space of time which has since elapsed he has taken an active interest in McGill circles.

The speaker's subject was one which was much appreciated by the new and old members of the club alike. The paper dealt with the essentials of a true historian. On this point the professor said "a writer of history must have acquired the art of writing good English if he is to be a success." Men like Adam Smith, Carlyle and Macaulay were types which were mentioned as examples. These writers had the ability for research work, and were able to glean the truth from biographies; while they had also the gift of broad-mindedness in compromising with another person's point of view.

Dr. Fryer, in voicing the opinions of the entire meeting, moved a vote of thanks to the new head of McGill's History Department, for the very splendid paper.

Below follows the programme for the session, 1921-22:

MONTREAL, THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 10, 1921.

THE MOCK PARLIAMENT.

Very soon the larger of the literary clubs about the college will begin their sessional activities. Throughout the past month the interest of the students has been focused on the athletic contests in which the teams representing McGill have taken a prominent part, but, with the coming of the winter months, the indoor activities will take first place.

The opening of the Mock Parliament next week will usher in the major literary activities for the season. Always a popular institution at the college, the miniature legislature is this year taking a very important place in the eyes of the student body. Both of the parties in the parliament have worked hard in preparation for the opening, and some interesting and amusing evenings are promised to the students and spectators.

The training which the undergraduates can secure at the sessions of the legislature is invaluable. There is no other means available at the university whereby a man may learn the art of giving a spontaneous expression of his opinion in public. The parliament is the scene of much fiery talk and partisan outbursts, and the members of both sides are given a chance to express their opinions. The Mock Parliament is in marked contrast to the ordinary debate, where only a couple of men are allowed to voice the opinions on a subject carefully prepared beforehand.

It has been the custom in past years to form a cabinet and leaders of both parties, with the idea of having the gatherings of students well organized and interesting. The mere fact that a certain group has taken a prominent part in the organization of the parties does not restrict the debating to them. Any man who is registered at the college is at liberty to attend the meetings and give expression to his thoughts. The choice of party is left open to each individual, but the mere fact that the programs of the parties are not agreeable to a man should not prevent him from joining one or other of the groups. The two parties have adopted platforms that will allow them a wide range of discussion, and many of the students will be arguing in favor of bills which, in the ordinary course of events, would have their determined opposition.

The opening of the parliament is always a picturesque affair, with the Governor-General giving his official speech from the throne, and the hot debate following before a division is taken. One of the noticeable features of the assemblies in the past years has been the apparent inability of the government party to stay in power for any length of time. The majority of students seem to be always against the government, no matter which party is in power, and in this fact lies the real secret of the success of the meetings for the opposition speakers are always more ready with a criticism than a government supporter with a defence.

To the Editor,
McGill Daily:

Dear Sir,—I would like to make a few remarks about the opinions expressed in the article which appeared in Saturday's Daily about the custom of initiation in the Royal Victoria College. To me this custom is as harmless as it is childish. I am far from denying that it is childish, even as the writer says. But few of us have reached the age when we wish to put away childish things entirely. Few of us are so sedate that we fail to relish a bit of fun, even if it takes the form of a practical joke. But I am not attempting here to defend the practice of initiation. I would as soon attempt to defend the practice of wishing to the new moon, hurling an old slipper after a newly-married couple, or kissing under the mistletoe. These took their rise long, long ago, and have persisted down through the ages. That they are very silly customs few of us would deny; and why the human race has fostered them so long we leave it to the psychologist to determine. But they have persisted, and as long as they hurt no one, why bother ourselves about them? But the writer of the article holds, with obvious sincerity, that initiation is far from harmless in its results; that it tends to make a Soph. with a bit of malice in her abuse her Sophistic privilege and render her victim or victims unnecessarily ridiculous and miserable; that it tends to make the Freshie resentful towards the whole Sophomore year; that the wounds her dignity receives on the fateful day too often fester away for years. If such bad feeling is engendered the thing should certainly be done away with at once. But I feel very strongly that the writer is entirely mistaken here. Take our own year, for example. I fancy in this regard we are very much the same as every other year. Two years ago we took our medicine with a wry mouth or two, perhaps, but with no resentment, I am sure. To be personal for a minute, I got a double dose for some sin of omission. I was, they assured me, "a very vile Freshie," and was treated as such. Far be it from me to divulge official secrets even at this late date, but one incident stands out with startling prominence in my memory, and will do so long, long after the rest has faded. After a number of amazing ordeals I danced the Highland Fling by request—danced it in a white flannellette nightie before a select audience of '22 who were nothing if not critical. Then I was unceremoniously hustled into the Gym, where my eighty other dejected classmates awaited further developments. What a sickly, sheepish looking crew we were! But I doubt not every one of us had a twinkle lurking in her eyes—at her own expense mostly, and at her comrades'. We were learning things we never knew before. And moreover, in spite of everything we recognized in these, austere, black-robed inquisitors of ours, girls like ourselves—very little older than ourselves and every bit as nice as ourselves. And after we had assimilated some of the wholesome truths they handed us out they became our good friends. Now surely any girl who is small enough to allow the memory of a temporarily upset dignity to rankle in her bosom and embitter her feelings toward the members of the class above her is a poor creature. I am optimistic enough to feel convinced that there are none of this calibre in R.V.C. If there are, it would take a good deal more than the abolishing of this time-honored bit of foolery we call initiation to prevent these species from contracting a grouse some time against somebody. Thanking you for your space, I remain,

Yours very truly,
A CO-ED.
Arts '23.

Montreal, Nov. 6.

The Editor,
McGill Daily:

Dear Sir,—In recent copies of your paper the subject of Initiation has been dealt with from various points of view. If you will be so good as to grant me a small portion of your valuable space I will endeavor to put forward the views of one who has undergone the tortures of two initiations, and who has helped to inflict similar tortures on three other occasions, in one of which he officiated as absolute tribunal.

Initiation was never intended as a means by which some wind bloated Sophomore might find expression for his vanity in the annoyance of some unfortunate individual whom he had taken unawares and securely tied. Similar actions may be excused in the case of the poor, ignorant, half-witted specimens of humanity found in the African forests, and in the islands of the South Seas.

That red-blooded Canadians should ever desire to stoop to such low and unmanly customs, is beyond my comprehension. In the ordinary walk of life would any sane and self-respecting citizen, would anyone calling himself a gentleman, seize a stranger, a would-be friend, and tie him up to the door post, rent his clothes, blacken his shins, throw paint in his face, pour molasses in his hair, and leave him in this ridiculous and perhaps indecent condition for the amusement of passers-by, while he sat in the window or strutted about the yard grinning and giggling like a fiend. Such a man would be sent to the lunatic hospital without further medical inquiry, and yet precisely the same performance is being carried on by various bodies of undergraduates and is winked at.

I will not be so bold, Mr. Editor, as to ask for space to put forward my ideas of a proper initiation in detail, but only in brief outline. First and foremost let "law" and "order" be the watchwords. I am opposed to the said, except in cases of contempt of court. At a fixed hour let the new men be summoned to appear at a place indicated. Each new man shall enter the "house of horrors" as his name is called, and be conducted through many weird and terror-breeding ceremonies, until finally he swears allegiance to its Alma Mater,

WRESTLERS GET MANY RECRUITS

Howes and Irwin to Wrestle at Old Scouts' Smoker

The wrestlers had the best practice of the season yesterday. An unusual number of new men turned out, and much enthusiasm was displayed by those present. Among last year's men available are Armstrong and Freedman, from whom great things are expected this year. Many of those who have been playing in football are being counted upon.

There will be a wrestling practice for both the beginners and the advanced class on Saturday at 2.15, in the Union. Everyone who can, is urged to attend these Saturday workouts.

One of the principal items on the programme at the Old Scouts' Smoker at the Union to-night will be a bout between Howes and Irwin, two of last year's men, who have shown up very well this year at the practices. The bout should be very close, and strenuously contested.

and is welcomed as a full fledged undergraduate of Old McGill. If the parties concerned desire something of a rougher nature, let them get out on the Campus and have a good old British "Free-for-all," where man meets man on equal footing. The ceremony ended, let a sumptuous banquet be spread in honor of the new men, and at the expense of the undergraduate body. At this banquet let the new men be made to feel, not their inferiority, but their equality, and hence their responsibility. In other words, let initiation be the door that admits ambitious youths of Canada to a great democratic fraternity, the undergraduate body of Old McGill.

Yours truly,
R. E. B.

McGILL POLO PLAYERS WIN CLOSE GAMES

Are Victors Over Old Rivals, M.A.A.A.

SCORE 5-2.

Only Few McGill Supporters to Cheer Teams to Victory.

The Y. M. C. A. Tank was the scene of two hard fought water polo games last night when the McGill First and Second Teams met those of M. A. A. A. The honours in both contests went to McGill, their players showing better condition and training. There was a fairly large crowd present which were mostly M. A. A. A. supporters. The McGill rooters were noticeably absent, a fact which should be remedied if the undergraduates expect the polo players to do their best to win honours for McGill.

In the Senior game the spectators were treated to a great exhibition of water polo. The best players in the Dominion were seen in action on both teams. The McGill players, last year holders of the Dominion Championship, obtained an early lead which they maintained throughout the game. Fisk was the outstanding player of the evening, and featured in his accurate back hand shots. He was responsible for three of McGill's points. Frank McGill played a great game for M. A. A. A., as also did Ritchie and Hodgson.

The play by periods.

First Quarter.

The ball was in play barely a minute when it was forced toward the M. A. A. A. goal. A scramble ensued in front of the goal, and Fisk obtaining the ball, shot past Carlin. A minute later Fisk, getting the ball in the centre of the tank, took a long shot which just missed scoring. Parsons then obtained it in front of the goal and scored with a beautiful shot. In the remainder of the period the ball travelled from end to end. Vermont and Fisk causing Carlin to make some smart saves with their dangerous shooting.

Second Quarter.

Frank McGill obtained the ball after a minute of play and passed to Logan, who scored. This period featured some clever shooting by both teams and the two goal-keepers were kept busy. Ritchie and Frank McGill sent two smashing shots at Laishley right after each other, which were stopped by him in good style. Fisk just missed the goal with a long shot from centre. The period ended without further tallying, the half-time score reading McGill 2, M. A. A. A. 1.

Third Quarter.

The play started again fast. Parsons obtained the ball and shot, missing the top of the goal by inches. This period featured some fast swimming by Vermont, who time and again brought the ball back to the M. A. A. A. goal. A minute later Laidley started with the ball up the tank and passed to Fisk who scored again.

Fourth Quarter.

Vernot obtained the ball and passed to Fisk, who beat Carlin at goal and scored again. A minute later Vernot swam the whole length of tank and with a beautiful shot, added another point for McGill. The M. A. A. A. team began to weaken and McGill had it much their own way. Near the end Frank McGill obtained the ball near the McGill goal and shot past Laishley for a goal.

The gong sounded a minute later leaving the score read McGill 5, M. A. A. A. 2.

The teams lined up as follows:

McGill	Goal	M. A. A. A.
Laishley	Defense	Carlin
Laidley	Defense	Hodgson
Parsons	Centre	Earl
Vernot	Forwards	McGill
Fisk	Forwards	Logan
Foss	Forwards	Ritchie
Officials:	Referee, C. Goulden.
Judge of Play, G. Moore.
Timekeepers, A. N. Silver and M. A. Gaboury.
Goal Umpires, F. Hunter and C. F. Phipps.

INTERMEDIATE GAME

This was the fastest and hardest fought battle in the intermediate league this season. The teams were very evenly matched and it was only in the last few minutes of play that the Red and White forged ahead and scored the winning goal. The honour of scoring this fell to Vickerson, who made a perfect shot a few yards from the M. A. A. A. goal. The Quirk brothers as usual put up a stellar game, T. Quirk scoring both of M. A. A. A.'s points.

The game was remarkably clean, and no penalties were imposed on either team. The first period started off at a fast pace and both goal-keepers made some good stops. McGill scored the only tally in this period from a shot of Vickerson's, which Dey just missed.

There was no scoring in the second period and when the gong sounded for half-time the players were beginning to show signs of the hard pace.

After the interval the two teams started with a great burst of speed. Forcing the ball toward the McGill goal, the M. A. A. A. forwards got

GOOD EXHIBITION GIVEN BY BOXERS

Four Men Made Successful Trip.

On Tuesday night four members of the B. W. & F. journeyed out to St. Annes and gave an exhibition at the smoker held there. A very good showing was made by these boxers who proved that they have a good knowledge of the game and that they will have to be reckoned with later on in the season.

The four men who took the trip were Weiner, Merrit, Simpson and Cook. Of these four, Merrit showed up especially well. He is a clever boxer and should make a good showing in the 135 lb. class when the interfaculty events get underway. The other three are not far behind him and will bear watching during the coming season. The floor was somewhat slippery and this, perhaps, tended, to a certain degree to prevent the boxers from giving their best. The condition of the men was not good but this cannot be expected so soon, and it did not detract any from the excitement of the bouts, which materially helped to make the smoker a success. T. B. W. & F. plan to have more of these trips, as it assists the men and gives them confidence.

The executive of the B. W. & F. wish to make clear the fact that the smoker on the 18th is not being held under their auspices and is a Union House Smoker. The boxers and wrestlers are providing most of the entertainment for it, but their own smoker will be held about a month later when the interfaculty bouts will be staged.

DENTISTS WIN IN BASEBALL FIXTURE

Strong Team Representing Dent '24.

Heavy hitting combined with snappy fielding by Dent '24, was responsible for an easy victory against Law '24 last evening. When the smoke cleared the score stood at 26-5.

Dugan, Charland and Higgins were the heavy hitters for the Dentals, while the pitching of Moore was the best seen this season. Combining a tricky slow ball with his fast delivery he proved too much for the embryo lawyers.

Echenberg started the pitching for the Law team but was replaced as soon as the barrage had started. Mendlesohn and Epstein each took a turn but without any more success.

The teams lined up as follows:

Dent '24	C.	Law '24
Charland W. E.	Mendlesohn, S. L.	P.
Moore M. L.	Echenberg, H.	1st
Hershon, S.	Balstan, H.	2nd
Dugan S. L.	Baker, H.	SS.

SYMPOSIUM AT THE MACCABEAN CIRCLE

Interesting Topic for Discussion.

In place of the usual lecture the Maccabean Circle will have on its programme for Sunday's meeting an interesting symposium.

With Labor as the topic of the opening meeting, and Spinoza occupying the interest of the second, a symposium on "Jewish Characteristics", for the third meeting carries out well the idea of varied discussion sought by the executive. The symposium will probably be led off by Dr. H. N. Legall and L. Z. Cohen, Law '22.

A piano duet by M. and S. Fels will also be part of the programme.

All members and everyone interested should be present on Sunday afternoon at 2:15 at the Army and Navy Veterans' Hall. Tickets for the first informal dance will be on sale at the meeting.

through the Red and White defense and T. Quirk scored. Later in the period Munro with a side shot put the ball in the M. A. A. A. nets. A minute later T. Quirk tallied another, evening the score.

The final period found the two teams tied and fighting hard for the winning goal. In the middle of the period Vickerson scored with a fast shot near M. A. A. A.'s goal. The Red and Blue put up a great effort but the gong soon after sounded leaving them the small side of the score, 3 to 2.

The teams lined up as follows:

McGill	Goal	M. A. A. A.
McKindsey	Defense	Dey
Forsyth	Defense	McConnell
Anson	Centre	Rae
Ross	Forwards	T. Quirk
Munro	Forwards	W. Quirk
Vickerson	Forwards	Bruker

RUGBY SQUAD NOT HALTED BY SNOWFALL

Go Through Brisk Drill on Icy Field.

ABSENTEES BACK.

Team Preparing for Hard Contest with Queens Saturday.

Despite a rather heavy fall of snow, which continued throughout the afternoon, the football team was sent through one of the fastest practices of the season. Under quarterback "Don" Bailey's direction the plays were carried out with snap, and the twelve trotted up and down the field in smart form. Though the footing was very hard the men stood up quite well, and there was very little slipping during the entire practice.

"Shag" lined the Senior team up against the intermediates during the signal drill, but there was no tackling; the coach refrained from scrimmaging the men for fear of injuries. Shaughnessy was very well pleased with the manner in which the plays were gone through, for in spite of the snow, the back line seemed to have picked up in speed. They showed a great improvement in passing and several long gains from end runs may be looked for when the Red and White encounters Queens on Saturday.

Anderson, Flanagan, and Russell on the half-line yesterday showed the best form of their careers; their passing was speedy and accurate, and they held their feet well. They are working now as a smooth machine and this is a marked improvement over the form they have displayed so far this year. "Don" Baillie and "Bones" Little, at quarter and flying wing respectively, are showing their usual consistency. Their defensive work, on Saturday against the heavy Syracuse eleven, was a revelation. The McGill backfield is undoubtedly the best defensive aggregation in Canadian Rugby, and even the Old Timers have no recollection of any halfline on this side of the boarder, which could match the present group in defensive play. More deadly tacklers have rarely been seen in Intercollegiate matches.

The line, profiting by the instruction of "Eddie" Brown and "Tim" Callahan, and by the experience gained in the game with the "Orange", is more powerful now than at any time this season. The men charge low, and are very aggressive, and it is not very likely that Queens will make much headway down the field by means of line plays.

"Boo" Anderson tried several place kicks from beyond the thirty yard line and nearly all of them landed between the bars. Carroll's attempts at drop kicks failed because of the snow covered field. It appears that if there are any "three pointers" to be scored they will have to be made by placement kicks, if the field at Kingston is in the same condition as Molson Stadium.

Shaughnessy has been emphasizing the kicking end of the game in practice this week. He realizes that on a snowy field it will be a difficult matter to gain by long end runs, and that the team with the better kicker will have the edge. But if Flanagan can get off the long punts that he did against Syracuse, Shag will have little cause to worry on that score.

The squad has been reinforced by the appearance of all the men who were out of the line-up because of injuries. Philpotts has fully recovered from the knock received in Toronto. Lozier's ankle has ceased troubling him, and "Silk" Murphy seems to be in good condition; McGregor was back in his old position at snap-back. With these men in the line-up the Seniors will be backed by an able group of spares who will be able to step into the field when the first string men show signs of weakening.

After the magnificent fight which Queens displayed against Varsity in Toronto on Saturday, when they came within one point of upsetting last year's champions, the Presbyterians feel confident of their ability to turn the tables on Old McGill when the Montreal team invades Kingston on Saturday. It is certain that the tri-color's strength can't be gauged by their showing in Montreal. At that time they were practically without the services of Leadley, their mainstay, and the team was demoralized to a great degree. On Saturday, should the condition of the field remain the same, the McGill running backs will be under a disadvantage and Queens should benefit by Leadley's long punts. The team has not allowed the 25-1 score to lead them to over confidence for they expect a strenuous game. The men are anxious for the opportunity of another match with Varsity and may be depended on to show their best.

S. P. E. ATHLETIC ELECTION.

For some time it has been apparent that year 1 of the McGill School of Physical Education would require assistant managers for Hockey and Basketball. At a meeting held yesterday the two additional sports officers were elected, the School having adopted the method at the beginning of the present session of electing officers as the need arose. The candidates elected are:

Phyllis Powell: Assistant Hockey Manager.
Doris Bain: Assistant Basketball Manager.

OPEN NEW HOME FOR PENN. CREWS

$50,000 Structure on Schuylkill.

Pennsylvania's new fifty thousand dollar boathouse along "boathouse row", on the beautiful Schuylkill River, was formally opened last week, by the rowing authorities of the University. Speeches were made by prominent graduates of the College and a tablet dedicated to the memory of Dr. J. William White was unveiled. Mr. White was a former director of Physical Education at Penn and did much to further the interests of rowing among the American colleges.

As a further attraction to the ceremonies several crew races were held in the last of which the Varsity eight overcame the Junior Varsity after a hot tussle.

The Pennsylvanians are now in the midst of their fall regatta which each year comes prominently into the public eye. Rowing is one of the major sports at this institution and is fast becoming one of the most popular. In the spring when a call is issued for candidates for the crew upwards of two hundred men turn out and even after the squad is weeded out, the coaches still retain eight boats on the river.

The college is very proud of this new structure which is probably the finest along the row. The boathouse extends for a distance of about three quarters of a mile along the prettiest part of the Schuylkill which has frequently been termed the "Seine of America."

It may be of interest to McGill men to know that rowing at the Quaker institution is under the direction of a Canadian. Coach Wright, who hails from Ontario has been instructing Pennsylvania oarsmen for a number of years, during which time the Red and Blue crews have always maintained a high standard in intercollegiate rowing. During the Summer Wright is in charge of the Toronto Argonaut crew, which succeeded in winning the eight-oared shell race in the American Henley Regatta on the Schuylkill last July fourth.

R. TAIT MCKENZIE RECEIVED HONORS

McGill Alumnus is Winning Fame as Sculptor.

Dr. R. Tait McKenzie, well known McGill alumnus, and now physical director at the University of Pennsylvania; and Mrs. McKenzie have returned to Philadelphia after a rather extended trip. They visited England this summer for the purpose of submitting to Cambridge University a model of the Cambridge war Memorial designed by Dr. McKenzie. The memorial will be unveiled some time in June 1922 in Cambridge.

Dr. R. Tait McKenzie has won for himself considerable glory by his many beautiful pieces of sculpture. Several specimens of his work are on permanent exhibition at the Montreal Art Museum, and have brought forth the praise of a number of critics. He has favored his Alma Mater with some of his works including "The Discus Thrower" which stands in the Redpath Library and a smaller piece of sculpture, which can be seen in the trophy case in the rest room of the Union. Perhaps his most famous effort, is the statue of the ideal Athlete, which is considered the finest work of its kind in existence. The various measurements were computed by taking the average of several scores of Pennsylvania's greatest all-round athletes.

While in England Mrs. McKenzie was honored by a presentation to Queen Mary. Her presentation was sponsored by the wife of the Canadian High Commissioner.

Dr. and Mrs. McKenzie spent some time in Italy before leaving Europe, and then came to Montreal for the Centennial Reunion at which time Dr. McKenzie was the recipient of the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws from McGill.

OLD SCOUTS' CLUB TO HOLD SMOKER

Excellent Affair Promised in the Union To-night.

All the old Scouts in College are asked to come to the Smoker that will be given to-night in the Union, by the Old Scouts' Club. It is impossible to send each man a personal invitation, but nevertheless all old Scouts are invited.

The programme of the evening was announced in Tuesday's Daily. Prof. N. N. Evans has kindly consented to act as chairman. To the men

WATERMAN'S TRIP VERY ENJOYABLE.

Those with fancy finish receive this, and the Waterman "Ideal" trademark is stamped on all. If the pen is to be a self-filler, the slot for the lever arm is cut in the barrel by a machine mounting four verticle drills, two of which carry tiny circular saws. The barrel of the pen is slipped into a jig, which fits into frames on the table of the machine, and the slot is cut accurately and rapidly.

The feeder for a good pen—just the end of which is visible behind the nib—requires as much attention as do the other black rubber parts of the pen, before, cut to size, slotted, bevelled, and polished, it is finally completed. As defects in either feeder or nib would be very serious, great care is taken with both these parts. Waterman's secure the chief material for their nibs direct from the government—pure twenty-four carat gold. This comes in the form of bricks, about the size of an ordinary housing brick, and is mixed with pure copper and silver to reduce it to the fourteen carat standard required for pen nibs. In this process the metal is heated to between nineteen hundred and twenty-five hundred degrees Fahrenheit, in a specially curtained-off room, as it is absolutely essential that no currents of cool air pass over the metal after it has been poured into the form of thin bars. The last thermometer used in this room smashed at one hundred and fifty degrees, due to the heat from the furnace. The fourteen carat gold bars are rolled and annealed repeatedly, till a strip the thickness of a pen-nib is obtained. The nibs are punched out of this, and the iridium points added. Then the nib is rolled, slit, bent, and the name stamped on, after which it is smoothed off and polished.

The various parts of the pen arrive in the assembling room, and there are fitted together. The nib is set, and the feed heated and pressed tight against it. The nib is tested most carefully for any "scratch" and must write smoothly before being passed. Throughout all the processes of manufacture, careful inspection is made of each individual part, and any possible imperfections eradicated.

Clips are rivetted on the caps by tiny power hammers, and are tested for tightness and spring. All plating necessary for gold and silver parts is done in the factory. Gold bands are turned on the caps and barrels, and fitted tightly, then polished and covered with a protecting film. The gold used for this, and for the nibs is very carefully checked by weighing the completed metal parts, and loss is thus reduced to a minimum. Fifty per cent. of loss of gold in manufacture is recovered ultimately from the sweepings from the factory.

For the benefit of the students, a case of small ink bottles was run through the automatic filler. This machine fills eight bottles at a time, and, when worked to capacity, will fill one hundred and eighty gross per day. By a vacuum arrangement, the air is first exhausted from the bottles, and then the fixed amount of ink is poured in. If any bottle leaks, the air cannot be exhausted from it, and no ink will be poured into it. A machine labels the filled bottles, which are packed by hand.

Waterman's manufacture showcases for their pens, and a department is devoted entirely to the production of showcases, trays and individual holders for the pens. The larger cases are carefully veneered and highly polished. A new magazine pencil is being manufactured of the same material as the pens, and will be on the market shortly. The factory has turned out twenty-five thousand pens weekly, but is not running to full capacity at present. From here pens are supplied to England, Australia and South Africa.

Each member of the party of students greatly enjoyed the privilege of seeing how a pen is made, and one and all appreciated the kindness and courtesy shown them. The trip was very instructive and interesting, and made very pleasant by the guides, who capably and tirelessly answered questions and pointed out features of interest.

After signing their names in the visitors' book and giving the McGill Yell, the men started for home, a pleasant feature of the trip being the profitable ten minutes spent admiring the well-constructed Lachine Canal.

who know him it will be an added inducement to come. A good quartette will render some songs. Also a few lantern slides showing scouting scenes in a far away part of the world will be given. These added to the items already announced should make the evening an enjoyable one.

No one should gain the impression that the Old Scouts' Club exists merely to give its members a good time. Last year the Club did some good work in helping the local troops and it is hoped that something will be done in this way during the present session. There are many men who are proficient in various lines of scouting activities. The executive would like to get in touch with such men at to-night's smoker.

The smoker will begin at 8 o'clock sharp, and members are asked to bring Song Books with them.

PRINCETON USED ONLY ELEVEN MEN

No Substitution in Tiger Lineup.

GILROY STARS.

Harvard in Gruelling Match—Few Injuries.

Some fifty-odd thousand persons saw on Saturday, what they probably will never see again as long as they live. They saw a Princeton-Harvard game in which one team played the same eleven men from first to final whistle and so forced the other team that it finally broke. And that was Princeton. Not one substitution! And broke a Harvard team and eight substitutes. This feat naturally surprised even the stantest of Tiger supporters, who even feared that Laurie and Garrity who have been on the injury list all season, might not last a half. It was a grand battle, a glorious scrap, with only two penalties for unnecessary roughness—one for piling on after the whistle and one for running into the kicker.

The headline hero of the game is Ralph Gilroy. And he deserves all the gets. Hard working with the dirtiest and most unseen job in the backfield he has played beautiful football for two years. And Saturday he crashed through at the crucial time with a beautiful run. He was ably assisted, however. Keck, who, like all great tacklers, is always where most needed, arrived from the left side of the line as Gil caught a short pass over to the right. Stinson, also where most needed, took out the first defensive back. Gilroy, with Keck beside him, was still going. Buell, the last hope of Harvard, coming to meet him. But Keck ran into friend Charley knocked him flat and Gilroy was caught at the 5-yard line, but twisted out of the tacklers' arms and rolled across the line. A well-deserved niche in the hall of fame, but he must share some of the glory with Keck and Stinson, who made the run possible.

When the final whistle blew Princeton was on her way for another score and would have made it inside of two minutes. When the final serech was heard the Tigers trotted off the field, while Harvard could scarcely drag one foot after the other. All glory to Keene Fitzpatrick. He realized many a trainer's dream—to condition a team so that they neither get hurt nor exhausted. No other man could do it, and he is the recipient of just congratulations.

Princeton still has eleven good men to fall back upon, the same eleven that answered every Harvard challenge yesterday for sixty minutes with not a single substitution.

Every man on the team emerged from the encounter in fine physical shape. It was thought that Al Wittmer, center, who hurt his leg in the first quarter, might be rather seriously injured in spite of his refusal to leave his post, but the injury is not severe, and he will be in condition to start against the Elis.

The Eli team is considered a slight favorite to win the battle in the Bowl on Saturday, but Princeton encouraged by its victory over the Crimson will be a hard foe to overcome. The game on the twelfth may make football history.

PEPYS AT MCGILL

Wednesday, Nov. 9th. With all things still bearing a wintry aspect, and the chillness of the air a presage of more snow yet to fall, I bethought me to try out my snow-shoon, which I had purchased some days since for the traversing of the drifts, which all men say do generally lie deep upon the campus paths. So at dusk I set out from my lodging-house which is upon Victoria Street and lies not far from the Union, and sought to gain some knowledge of the management of these wondrous-looking webs of gut by walking carefully upon them high unto the high fence of iron which shuts off the colleges from the common street; only they are such barbarous and uncouth things in sooth that I could scarce make any headway with them upon my feet, and entangling myself divers times in their meshes the coachmen who stood there with their chariots close by were so tickled by an unseemly fit of mirth, that I much feared they would work themselves into a paroxysm or a falling-sickness, and so I made off again with my two snow-shoon slung over my back by their harnesses, and I think myself most lucky that none of the women students were at that time present to mock and rail at me in my discomfort. I think I shall buy me rather a pair of mokazins, which they say the Indian salvages did here use with good effect in their day for traversing just such drifts of snow, only the double expense will be a sore trial to me. Tomorrow comes the loathsome business of my examination at the hands of the chyrurgeons of the college.

Pat had died and Mike, while seated with the rest of the mourners, burst into laughter. When he returned home his wife said: "What was the idea of laughing at Pat's funeral?" "Well, about two weeks ago Pat told me he didn't believe in heaven or hell, and while I look at him lying there so peacefully it just came to me that he was all dressed up and had no place to go."

PARLIAMENTARY NEWS

The National Progressive Party note with interest the statement of the Representative Party to the effect that a revised platform will be published by them in the near future. It is gratifying to observe that they take to heart the advice recently offered them in the columns of this paper to give more serious consideration to questions of momentous issue. The evasion of the tariff question by a party in power is absolutely without precedent, and only goes to weaken the stand they have taken in other matters.

It is indeed remarkable "that such a collection of prominent men should have been brought together," and we feel it a great point in their favour that the members of the Cabinet should hold each other in such high esteem.

The National Progressive Party wishes to place itself on record as being most firmly and unalterably opposed to a system of exclusive immigration, as advanced by the Government. It is felt that such a policy would not be in the interests of the Canadian people.

The system of Moving Picture Censorship is essential to the moral order of our people, and any move to abolish this institution will be most strenuously opposed.

The Canadian Merchant Marine must be done away with as soon as possible. Any form of Government Ownership is inconsistent with the ideals of the National Progressive Party, and will be summarily dealt with. The railway situation is, of course, in a class by itself. Our National Railways are in the nature of a legacy to the Canadian people, and must be treated as such. It is felt that they must remain in the hands of the Government until the development of our country furnishes the solution of our difficulties. A scheme whereby the Canadian Pacific Railway would be given a monopoly of all roads in Canada cannot be entertained for a minute.

Closely allied with the railway problem is the irrigation and development of the St. Lawrence river and for the present, at least, such a scheme must be abandoned.

The organization of the National Progressive Party is as follows:

Leader of the Opposition—W. Roy Dillon, B.A.

Chief Whip—A. R. Wilkes, B.A. Oxon.

Science Whip—W. R. Wingham.

NEWFOUNDLAND CLUB HELD SMOKER LAST NIGHT.

Founded by a contingent from "The Ancient Colony," he eulogized the work of the Newfoundland troops and showed how the issue for which all Britishers fought was a moral one. Referring then to University life Sir Arthur said "A University has many functions, one may be to impart knowledge, but a greater is to turn out a good type of manhood." The speaker referred to the endurance, heroism and ideals of the men who fought and shrank not from death. "The same endurance, heroism and principles must now actuate the lives of every brave man" if success is to be attained. In referring to the sectional clubs, the Principal said that many persons worry that there are too many activities for students. "I worry myself more about activities undone," said the speaker. "than activities overdone." Continuing, Sir Arthur said "I often wonder what the student does, or how he profitably can spend his spare time, if he doesn't take part in some social activity of University life." The Principal admonished every student to be a loyal citizen of the Empire, to cherish the thought of those who sacrificed their lives to live a true life instead of aiming to make a living, and to stand together in unity.

The frankness, courtesy and manly way in which Sir Arthur spoke captivated every member present.

Dr. Hatcher proposed a vote of thanks to the Principal and made reference to the success which McGill has had since Sir Arthur became its chief. The Professor urged the members of the club to do their best to make known the advantages which McGill offers to all Newfoundlanders coming to Canadian Universities. The ex-President C. F. Davis seconded the vote of thanks and welcomed the Principal to membership in the club.

While refreshments were being served, an invitation was given to the members to attend a picture featuring Eastern Townships Club. This the members gladly accepted and mingled with the E. T. boys.

Thus ended an enjoyable night, but the "Newfoundland Special Cigarettes" put up by Le Baron Tobacco Co., will again decorate the mouths of freshmen and seniors alike. "Cheery o' boys" Keep up the good work, and cherish pleasant memories of good old "Terra Nova."

MURRAY BROOKS OFF TO CEYLON

Many Friends Gather to Bid Him Farewell.

Murray Brooks, one of the representatives of McGill in Ceylon, who has spent several weeks in the City recently, has said farewell and is again on his way to his work in the East. During his stay in the City he has reorganized the "McGill Mission" which for several years has supported his work in Ceylon, and has also given some time to the financial campaign of the Metropolitan Y. M. C. A. Old friends and new have been delighted at many gatherings by his musical voice, for wherever he has gone he has been called upon to sing, and he never refuses.

Warm associates to the number of twenty gathered for supper with him at Central Y. M. C. A. on Tuesday night. An enjoyable evening was spent with brief addresses by Mr. Jesson, who has also spent much of his life in Y. M. C. A. work in India and Egypt—Dr. Gifford, and Murray Brooks. Mr. Brooks spoke frankly of some of the hard things that he and those engaged in similar work in the East must encounter; the rebuke of Christian Denominationalisms which is puzzling the Indian mind, and the offense of European lives lived out of all harmony with the religion to which they nominally adhere.

A gift of a McGill watch fob was presented to Mr. Brooks, as a souvenir of his visit. Another of the same was entrusted to him for Dr. Gordon Brown who for several years has been with him in Ceylon.

A large group of students, met at the train and gave him a send off worthy of McGill. Good wishes accompany Mr. Brooks on his return to his difficult service, while with his friends here remains the firm confidence that he is the man for the place, a worthy representative of the best elements of old McGill.

Military tanks were used in England to check heath fires this summer. All efforts to check heath fire flames near Aldershot failed until a detachment of tanks, with water and chemicals, cleared the way for the fire fighters who followed through.

Feathers have always been down.

HERBERT MARLER ADDRESSED R.V.C.

Liberal Candidate Explained Planks of Platform.

Mr. Herbert Marler, the Liberal candidate from St. George, St. Lawrence ward, addressed some of the students of the R. V. C. yesterday afternoon.

He stated at the start, that his aim was not to slander his opponent and the present government, but to state the facts as they are, plainly to the students, and to name and explain the planks of his platform, and the stand he intended to take if he was elected.

His first remark in indicating his platform was surprising to the majority of the girls; namely that the tariff question is not the main issue of the coming election. He said that the Liberal party, as well as the Conservative, insists on a tariff. He added that the tariff needs revision and that the present government has allowed the matter to drift till now.

The second subject was that of public Ownership of railways and ships of which he does not approve. Mr. Marler went into this subject quite deeply and explained that the deficit in these departments was annually about one hundred million dollars, and that nothing was being done at present to remedy the situation. This is another case of allowing matters to drift. He claimed that the fact that railways went into solvency did not involve the loss of national credit and pointed to the United States as an example.

The third plank was that of national economy—to undertake only the essentials. Here he referred again to the Merchant Marine and showed that ships are lying idle and depreciating in value hence they are a great loss to the country.

The fourth point was that of wide immigration with cautious discrimination.

Mr. Hugeson, a speaker in Mr. Marler's party, added several points, and a general discussion followed.

Both speakers were very generous and broad minded and those present felt that they all had a fuller understanding of the situation and that was what was wanted.

Electricity in Franklin's time was a wonder. Now we make light of it.
